The Way, Vol. I – Practical Poetry Inspired by Stoicism

For mom; because you encouraged me to do what is right, not what is easy. For dad; because you are my watcher.

On Philosophy

Philosophy should make you warmer to the world, not cold or detached. We're here an instant: to spend time lamenting life would be wasting it. Instead, make of use the power you are given to help those near you. Same as your body, your mind needs to exercise, so read, learn, think, act. What good is it if you stop after reading and put none to practice? Would a star athlete watch tapes and then do nothing? Only if they're hurt. Luckily, if so, your mind is unaffected if you choose it's not.

On Being a Part of the Whole

Everything that is your hair, toes, eyes, hands, fingers, brain, heart, lungs, feet, limbs, coffee, tea, bagels, lasagna, pizza, salads, mushrooms, peas, apples, pets, brothers, sisters, mothers, fathers, sons, daughters, cousins, grandparents, kitchens, pipes, houses, streets, stop signs, neighborhoods, cities, states, countries, continents, oceans, comets, asteroids, planets, stars, solar systems, galaxies, parsecs, superclusters, and, in fact, the whole universe -
