“Good Girl”

The words flow past your lips with lethal authority
Dripping softly on my tongue
I can taste my devotion
And every flavor of worship marked with your name
Sinister sentiments pool around me seductive and sweet
I surrender to their hypnotic pull
And submission becomes inevitable
Soaking into my core
You fill my veins and flood my lungs
My bones are marred with the image of you
And I succumb to your touch
I'm yours

Kingdom of Ashes

When Fantasy reigns supreme
And reality can't live up to its own shadow
We take the plunge and dive deeper than ever before
Emotions without a name
Burnt tongues fall silent
Untold stories dance delicately in the dark
Out of the silence
Seeps the most elegant chaos
And the insanity sweeps my heart with a single caress
Swimming soft among the made-up stars
We reach a level of consciousness that no longer exists
The old world dissolves slowly beneath our feet
And we build together a new kingdom from the ashes

Consensual Consequences

Your love wrapped around my heart like vines around a tree

Insidious and Slow

But with bigger consequences than I could see coming

It was a beautiful kind of suffocation

Not without pain and suffering

But it came

With a sort of elation

A sensation unlike any I had experienced before

There was

Something

Unsettling

About it

It was quiet

No struggle

Despite the knowledge

Of what was going to happen

Almost

As if it were

Consensual

This is Love

Fingers interlocked
Promises fall off your tongue like rain
Your eyes scream sincerity so loudly they shatter the doubt within me
3 syllables knock my heart sideways and send reality running
It's surreal
Could you repeat that?
Butterflies storm my stomach While a smile creeps insidiously onto my face
You lean your head on mine and I mirror your words
"I love you"
