Magic

Thread, a force of magic and skill,A power of creation, that weaves with will,From the delicate silk, to the sturdy wool,Thread's magic, in all its pull.In the hands of the weaver, the magic is born,A symbol of art, that forever transforms,From the spool that spins the yarn,Thread's magic, we see it darn.The tapestries, the quilts, and the clothes,All of thread, a symphony of sews,A constant reminder of its power,And the magic that stitches every hour.With each stitch, the thread transforms,A symbol of beauty, that forever conforms,From the embroidered flowers, to the quilted squares,Thread's magic, we see it repair.The patterns, the designs, and the seams,All of thread, a symphony of dreams,A constant reminder of its might,And the magic that weaves every night.In the hands of the seamstress, magic lies,A force that awakens with each sunrise, From the threads of gold, to the ones that disguise, Thread's magic, in all its guise.
