widowed

i have accepted that i will never fall in love my time has passed the person meant for me no longer exists so, for the time being i will hate love as much as it hates me i will wallow in my lonesome loathing i will sink into the quicksand made from my grief and tears i will wait for life to take me where it took him

sigh

i've never felt this lonely in my life it's a beautiful hell and a tortuous heaven

hesitance

im afraid to allow you to alter the time signature and tempo of my heart

but i want you to

romance

i want to love you

but i'm afraid of the illusion of what was once a door

but a shelf made me

of a toddler

a ladder

to someone else
