Afternoon Warm-up Outside of Starbucks Before Work

Sitting outside of Starbucks after picking up candy and a fresh tablet.

Inside of Jackie, playing Jazz, and writing up a report on the afternoon that is today, March 9th, 2023.

Out here in Santa Ana of Orange County.

I have nothing of value to say, it is me simply wasting ink on the page, searching for an idea to springboard from. Carrying me into a wild and maybe rewarding piece of prose.

The script last night was solid. And the makings of its final product is going to be worthwhile.

Valuable!

I'm still up in the air about it, but I know that (within the journey) the value will come. Making it worth the investment for me, FIRST! Doing this for me, right now, that is all there is. All that I have to do / work on that's "easy to do, yet easy NOT to do".

As well as sketching – which is why I made the purchase of a fresh new tablet. Drawing and sketching logo, "A" and other things that holds down the pages of creativity and sketches.

The Cosmic Tabletop

Chilling here, and thinking over a new logo improvement, plus, what is this entire “ tabletop ” concept doing?

Why is the, ‘ The Cosmic Tabletop ’ even a thing ?

What does this do ?

I’m merely at the tabletop, writing amongst the pens, pads, cars, speakers, keyboard and mobiles scribbling away – underneath the light bulb.

(Write more pomes! That is what you NEED to do!)
